From New York Times bestselling author of Symptoms of Withdrawal and Moments of Clarity Christopher Kennedy Lawford comes a book that will save lives. For most of his early life, Christopher Kennedy Lawford battled life-threatening drug and alcohol addictions. Now in recovery for more than 25 years, he works to effect change and raise global awareness of addiction in nonprofit, private, and government circles, serving as the goodwill ambassador for drug dependence treatment and care for the United Nations. For the first time, Recover to Live brings together all of the most effective self-care treatments for the seven most toxic compulsions affecting every culture on the planet today—alcohol dependence, drug dependence, eating disorders, gambling, hoarding, smoking, sex, and porn. In Recover to Live, more than 100 of the world's top experts interviewed by Lawford share their research and wisdom on how to determine if your bad habit is becoming a dependency, what treatments will work best for you, how best to help yourself or a loved one recover from addiction, and how to lead a fulfilling and productive life in recovery.

Ageing is a natural process and it is necessary for the survival of a species. You can't really "kick the habit" but this does not mean you are powerless to alter the rate at which ageing occurs. It is likely within the very near future, humans will be able to live to 150 years and beyond. I am talking about those of you reading this book, not a future generation. This does not imply being old for longer, there is clearly no point in that. It means staying young, healthy and disease free longer. Avoiding dementia, cancer, heart disease, diabetes, arthritis and all the other diseases which occur as you age. We aim to maximise your health span and quality of life, and secondarily your lifespan, avoiding all the diseases above. This book summarises the science of ageing and the strategies you can apply today to maximise the disease-free span of your life. To slow the ageing process.
